Our summer series is looking at the spirituality of Meister Eckhart, as a potential way of being in our world. It is a spirituality that speaks to many of the issues of our world, in particular our response to environmental issues but also addiction, suffering, injustice, while exploring the feminine aspects of God and the importance of honouring our creativity, to name but a few themes. It is a spirituality which has influenced many in the contemplative tradition, like Cistercian monk, Thomas Merton and Buddhist teacher Thich Nhat Hanh, and been made more accessible recently through authors like Matthew Fox and Richard Rohr.
